Texas Assessments

- STAAR (State of Texas Assessments of Academic Readiness) - the state testing program that was implemented in the 2011–2012 school year. Every STAAR question is directly aligned to the TEKS currently implemented for the grade/subject or course being assessed.
- EOC - End of Course Exam
- TELPAS (Texas English Language Proficiency Assessment System) – is an assessment program for students in Texas Public Schools learning the English language. Texas assesses English language learners annually in listening, speaking, reading, and writing.

Importance of STAAR

STAAR measures grade level concepts and skills that students need to learn to stay on track from year to year. It is a cumulative test that happens at the end of the year to allow teachers to see how much a student has learned over the past year and where they may still need support. STAAR measures how well students met the grade level expectations in each subject determined by the Texas State Board of Education in partnership with educators. It shows how prepared a student is for the next grade level, and where they may need additional support to accelerate learning.

STAAR is only one way to measure learning, and it isn't meant to tell the whole story. It's meant to be combined with report card grades, teacher input, and classwork, to give families and teachers a more complete picture of student learning.
